Discipline and Correction

---

- Welcoming discipline and correction is a sign of humility and maturity.
- Proverbs 5:11–14, 22–23; 6:23; 9:8–9; 12:1; 13:13–18; 15:10, 32
- The Bible teaches that correction doesn't stop at adulthood, nor does it only apply to newer Christians.
- Even church leaders need to be willing to accept correction, just as Peter received correction from Paul (Galatians 2:11).
- If we want to grow in our faith, we must be willing to accept correction.

Discipline and Correction

---

- Those who hate discipline bring destruction and disgrace on themselves, while those who listen to it are rewarded and honored (13:13–18).
- Whoever ignores instruction “despises himself, but he who listens ... gains intelligence” (15:32).
- “Whoever loves discipline loves knowledge but he who hates reproof is stupid” (12:1).
- The word translated “stupid” here is more literally “brutish,” like an animal instead of a human.

Discipline and Correction

---

- This kind of attitude requires humility, self-awareness, and vulnerability.
- It means we can let go of the need for the appearance of perfection. It's part of the growth process and nothing to be ashamed of.
- Hebrews tells us that one of our purposes in meeting together is to stir one another up to love and good works (Hebrews 10:24).
- James says to confess our sins to one another and pray for one another so that we may be healed (James 5:16). Paul said God's Word teaches, corrects, and trains us in righteousness (2 Timothy 3:16).

Discipline and Correction

---

- The Lord disciplines us like a loving Father.
- Proverbs 3:11–12; 13:1; 15:5; Deuteronomy 8:5–6; Hebrews 12:5–7
- The Bible says God is a loving Father.
- He shows compassion on His children (Psalm 103:13), gives good gifts to them (Matthew 7:11), prepares an inheritance in heaven for us as His adoptive sons/heirs (Romans 8:17), gives us life (1 Corinthians 8:6), protects us (Psalm 68:5), and molds us (Isaiah 64:8).
- God has a personal relationship with us (2 Corinthians 6:18).

Discipline and Correction

---

- The father / son discipline language harkens back to God's covenant with David, which referred to Solomon (in the near-future fulfillment of the covenant) and Jesus (in the far-future fulfillment of it).
- "I will be to him a father, and he shall be to me a son. ... I will discipline him ... but my steadfast love will not depart from him" (2 Samuel 7:14–15).
- Solomon had experienced the Lord's discipline himself and seen firsthand the good that comes from it.

Discipline and Correction

---

- We discipline our children because we love them.
- Proverbs 13:24; 19:18; 22:15; 23:13; 29:17
- When parents don't discipline their children but let them behave how they want, they often grow up to be spoiled, self-centered adults – in effect, children in grown-up bodies.
- Solomon said that “folly is bound up in the heart of a child” (22:15); this is the doctrine of original sin.

Discipline and Correction

---

- If we love our children, we will want them to grow into mature, wise, godly adults. This is not an easy task, and it doesn't happen by accident.
- We must be diligent to discipline them (13:24). The goal of parenting isn't to "raise children"; it's to raise adults.
- Proverbs uses strong contrasting language when discussing correction.
- Parents who don't discipline their children hate them, but parents who love their children are diligent to discipline them (13:24).

- CEO of Microsoft Satya Nadella talks about how a future where all humans will have a “copilot for every cognitive task.”
- For those at Davos, “the future is your guts wirelessly reporting you truant and then a text message buzzing on every device in the house, warning your pets to exit the room while it is flooded with gas to sedate you into compliance with Pfizer.”
- You will also be alerted to “serious penalties to your carbon score” and be given a “cognitive copilot that will be taking over even more duties and tasks previously assigned to you.”
